

Preface

Blessings are given to us, as talents, used wisely we can allow God to move through us to touch those around us. Patrick has allowed God to work his teachings into his talent and in praise Patrick shows us the joys of a Christian heart. Patrick is letting his light shine. Won't you join him today?

~Tina Cantrell

Patrick always bases his poems on truths he has learned from scripture. He is incredibly prolific and writes with the flavor of contemporary music. Whatever he learns from the Bible he shares in poems, always pointing others to the encouragement he has found in the cross of Christ and a daily walk in the Spirit. Let Patrick's poetry encourage you to look at the love, mercy and grace available to those who follow the Way of Jesus Christ.

~Teri Emerson

They say, "Action speaks louder than words." This poet's words speak straight to the heart in a powerful way. Each poem touches my heart so uniquely. Truly, Patrick obtains a gift from God. I am always refreshed by his poems. He is - no doubt - an encourager through this beautifully-written collection of poetry.

~Hannah Buchanan

While spiritual truths can sometimes be hard to explain on an intellectual level, Patrick has the gift of being able to sum up the truth of God and present it in not only an educational but also in an entertaining manner. He is able to captivate an audience that may not even realize they are receiving the Truth of God in a way that only someone who has moved beyond learning and has both lived and experienced the Truth of God could do. If you need encouragement nothing can beat the Word of God itself, but running a close second is the Truth as expressed through Patrick's writings.

~Dale Reisinger

If you like poetry and you're looking for a spiritual and emotional lift, read Patrick's book. He is candid in his telling of Scriptural truths with his poetry. Read his verses out loud and listen to the ring of contemporary Christian music. Savor the rhythm of his thoughts as he embraces the joy found in walking hand-in-hand with the Lord. Take encouragement from his words as he expresses the love, grace, and rest that can only be found in Christ.

~Mike Erickson